Figure 5–17   LC receive state machine.

The heart of the system is the Link Controller entity, which controls and sequences the above functions and operations.  This typicalls consists of two main state machines one for receive and one for transmit. Simplistic examples of the state machines (neglecting aux packets) are shown in Figure 5-16 and 5-17