

AWS is no longer accepting new customers for the Amazon Machine Learning service. Amazon Machine Learning remains, however, a very good teaching tool to understand the fundamentals of machine learning. As a student of this class, you are eligible to receive access to Amazon Machine Learning to complete the course. In order to receive access to Amazon Machine Learning, please do the following:

1. Log into the AWS Console at <https://aws.amazon.com>
2. In the upper right-hand corner of the console screen, click on your account name (this is probably your name).
3. In the dropdown menu that opens, select "My Account".
4. At the top of the account screen is a section called "Account Settings". The first line should be your Account ID.
5. Copy and paste this number into an email to me (asli@noktaconsulting.com) titled "Amazon ML Access", and I will get you access to the service.
